Hermle - German made - absolutely stunning hand carved solid oak Stuggart wall clock (48 inches in length.) New old stock from the late 1980s (in original box, with original key and owner's manual when purchased in March 2009.)

Movement: Hermle mechanical spring-driven 8-day, full Westminster chimes (cast iron chime block with five chime rods). This movement is self-correcting

(just in case the chiming sequence is incorrect - the next hour the clock will adjust and correct itself.)

Case: Solid oak featuring hand carved accents. It measures 46" x 12" wide x 5-3/4".

Dial: A beautiful crackle effect and is painted on a solid brass pan. The Hermle name is below the 12 o'clock position and "Made in Germany" below the 6 o'clock position. The hands are made from heavy gauge metal and painted black. A lever next to the 3 o'clock position allows the chiming to be silenced when the clock is still running. A simple re-engagement of the lever turns the chimes back on.

Pendulum: Deeply lacquered solid brass (temperature compensating style).
