French Rollin A Paris Gallery Clock with a Marble Dial, Porcelain Roman Numerals - (Circa 1860)

This antique gallery clock is made of nice solid wood with an oval shaped front section. This model was manufactured in France, circa 1860, and has a solid brass movement encased in solid wood, with marvelous gilded gesso work on the front of its case.

Movement: 8-day half hour strike spring wound pendulum movement which has been completely overhauled, cleaned, oiled, timed, and adjusted for accuracy, and currently is running well. It strikes on a deep cathedral gong every half hour and counts the hours. The adjustable pendulum is complete and original to this clock, as is every part of it.

Case: Solid mahogany wood. Measures 24" high by 16" wide, and 6" deep.

Dial: Super nice white marble (9-1/2 inches in diameter) with inlaid Porcelain Roman Numerals, signed "ROLLIN a PARIS"
